

“What most suppliers need to understand is what it’s like to sit across a table from a family and make a promise. Too many don’t understand that – but the way that Dakota Granite delivers, I think they understand that better than others.

Dakota Granite has always been an innovative company – from the monuments they design to the equipment they use. We’ve always tried to avoid cookie-cutter designs and Dakota Granite offers us variety, distinctive designs and an expanded line of granite color.

Most of all, I like the people I work with because they treat us well. You start out customers and you become friends with them over the years. They are just good people to do business with. They’ve done nothing but treat me great and I’d recommend them highly to anybody.”
